Q: Tell protocol about class that inherited from it i do not know that is this is possible or not, i want tell a protocol to a class that inherited from it. i used a lot of time to try to think that this is possible but without success. i try to imagine that i have a protocol, is the interface and i have some class that is derived from it. i want to implement this protocol in all classes that the protocol had so is the question: how can i do that? A: In Objective-C, the only way to achieve this is through an extension: @interface MyObject : NSObject @end @protocol MyObjectProto -(id)foo; @end @interface MyObject (MyObjectProtoExtension) -(id)foo; @end @implementation MyObject (MyObjectProtoExtension) -(id)foo{ return @"I can do anything"; } @end This is like a script extension. A: You can use validates :presence => true to force the value of state_id to be present on update. If you want to create a record with a single state, you can use validate :on => create, which will evaluate the expression on the create action.
