A press magazine... holds very welcome news for local young artists. Suzi Judd, a seven year old chef artist from Toulouse, France, is now considered to be the youngest ever artist to have a print of her work published by the highly respected print magazine Revue de Presse, which can be purchased for anything from 25 euros (about US$30) to over 800 euros. Photographs and articles about Kafe-See, a student club in the German town of Georgsmarienhütte which raises funds for the German Red Cross by playing the album of a fictitious band called Kafe-See, and which is just as much about raising money for charity as about celebrating the music. Just for one year, the Bengals need to look no further than their roster, according to this op-ed from Andy Dalton. Via the Cincinnati Enquirer: "I think we need to address a number of things before the season starts, just to make sure we're in a good spot with the guys we have now." What was the motive behind the statement, and has it been overblown? "Do I think it's true? No. I think everybody thinks they are in a good spot, and we just need to make sure we are in a good spot." Not to mention, Dalton already looked like that in Week 17 and then got hurt. — Signed, a frequent fantasy football, Russell Wilson and Adrian Peterson Fantasy football owner.
