Mitt Romney has a new book out this week called No Apology: Believe What You Want to About Me, but Do Not Apologize for Who I Am. In the first chapter, titled "My Family," Romney talks about his mother, Lenore, and how her faith influenced his. He writes: My mother was born into a pretty conservative Mormon family. She grew up hearing her father, George, preach the need for principle and humility and to treat people with respect. Mother, the third child of four, was taught to be modest and kind, to be self-effacing, to give others the benefit of the doubt, and to accept truth with good humor. In short, she was told that she could not expect, or demand, the world and even though it was tempting

The Apache web server runs on Microsoft Windows, Mac OS X, Solaris and Linux, FreeBSD, OpenBSD, and NetBSD OSes. A web server is the computer that acts as a central point of contact for web surfing, the internet, and WWW pages. A web server can serve files using files transferred over the web (HTTP), itself via FTP, or perhaps directly via such protocols as telnet. Client side web browsers then utilize TCP/IP to retrieve the files, rendering them in the main window. HTMLBrowser is a small and fast web browser that also allows you to have a history of web pages.
