 Jinzo, you cowardly dog!" "May the lord of hell be the one to take away your life, and then I will cry out of joy!" "Ah! I'm gonna bite your scabby face off!" "Wh-What are you doing? This isn't the time! I-I want this duel to be done with honor!" In this game, you play as Gourry the Knight and his opponent is none other than Jinzo, the villain of an upcoming movie, Jinzo the Heels. In this game, you play to the end, or until all of the cards on your deck have been used up. That's all it's about! But before we jump into the 'new' Yu-Gi-Oh!, let's take a look at the 'old' Yu-Gi-Oh!. PREVIEW Gourry the Knight: A hero who protects his own honor, and a man with a warm heart that can always be trusted. This is Gourry the Knight: the watchman who protects his village as the guardian of the clouds and storms, and he wields the power of thunder as a great warrior. True Monsters to Summon: Be sure to Summon every True Monster once you prepare your deck for battle. That way your strategy will never be at the mercy of your opponent's. And to make sure your deck always has the cards you need, Gourry the Knight has many companions who will help you accomplish your tasks in battle! Unown Card: If you fill your deck with these mysterious cards, you can go down fighting without worrying about cards you need not being left behind! A Warrior's soul: Gourry the Knight's heart isn't just a simple watchman, but the heart of a strong man who is always searching for his own strength, never wanting to let go of his own beliefs. He is the protecter of the weak: Gourry the Knight is also the watchman who protects his village and his own honor. When that person protects something that doesn't need protecting, that is how true heroes are born. He is a man like no other: Gourry the Knight's absolute courage in battle is a reflection of his kind heart. If someone asks you to help him, you will follow his wish no matter what. Gourry the Knight's heart is a hero's heart: Gourry the Knight c9d1549cdd

Hello,I did a little update this week on the game.I think I can make a smooth 30fps without the textures are completely 2D (to get only 21 FPS using all the details!).I started to design the game a little bit but have some engine issues. I read that the PS3 is really less powerfull than the XBOX 360. But I had fun to design a space shooter!I have a new permission from my partner (I do not use any violence). If you want to play the game you must choose a way!Exclusive-Atomix ------------------- M2KW is an old commercial X-MSX game. On a X-MSX computer you can play by screenmodes:J,T,B,M,T,J and if you are lucky you can have a 50 FPS on 20MHz CPU! From 2011, the game is also available on Android phones with PS3 controller -------------------- To be used in a 3D environment :Remake-PS3 controller a new lighting model+ I had a VHLL-CES version (2 years ago), it was like a 15 FPS but no bad. ------------------------- To play on low-spec device is not a big problem, the play area is really small. Sorry for my english, i live in UK. I update the game with the easy models. Is good for the people with no skills and time. No rocket but they have many items with no effect and no shooting bullets! There is still some bugs but I want to show new screenshots and add a few features. About the game M2Kw is very old, but fun to play. If you have no skill or time the easy game is a good start! The game will be online in a month or 2. The project is the free version with the 3D and cross-platform. Maybe you can add your rules! About this game:The project has been started a long time ago (I started the team in 2007).I try the original game (MSX) version in 2017. I will show more or less all the original game.I made a small difficulty for my project. First release of a project for 2013. Yes, the game is slow because it's the original. But the graphic is very nice (80% with the 3D models). The gameplay is an easy arcade shooter

What's new in Studio Baby - Galaxy Citizen - Soundtrack:

When I started this map I mean what I wanted and what I expected of it, to have a map filled with secrets, fast-paced action and unusual gameplay. It was all included in my vision, but I had to write everything afterwards. After all the planning was done I found out that this map was too big. It was going to be a 1.4gb map, so no way you could complete it if you have low Internet in your shitty ISP (I really think about my screenshot provider... I had a bad experience with them haha).Anyway I wrote a list of priorities, which was very long but I was able to work perfectly with it. First of all I had to secure the assets and with 3 people I had lots of problems with execution during the beginning but I found a solution for every problem we encountered.So long story short I used these priorities:A: Features.B: Narrative.C: Product. A:Features.The first thing you should learn when you are a map designer is priority. In everything you do, you should always write the priority first. If you don't prioritise it is going to be too late to change the priorities. This map has 800+ different things you can do so most of the time you will end up having a character doing most of them, so you need to write prioritising such things from the beggining.A very good way to do this is put a soldier on the right side of the screenshot and someone else in the left side. The soldier will be doing most of the work. On the right you will have the cell phones and on the left you will have all the computers in the right.Write down the priority and forget about the rest until you get a better idea of how everything should be set up. If you don't do it soon you will lose your focus. Maybe some other people can help you when you are prioritising things but they will never understand the vision of the map if you don't even know yourself.If I forgot any important priority I'd like to apologize. B:Narrative.Here you have a huge city filled with buildings, and it isn't just that you shouldn't forget about this part but you also have to think of a story to it. Maybe the city is trapped but the soldiers can escape and that's why they want to escape. Maybe the soldiers are treated as prisoners. The story you put in a map needs to be well thought out, so this is the most important thing
